Mr. DiMartino, 36, was found dead on the floor of his Hermann Street apartment in San Francisco's Hayes Valley neighborhood on August 2, 2010. The medical examiner's office said in its report that his injuries included 48 stab wounds, most of them in his back.

Hours before he's believed to have been killed, DiMartino, who was gay, had told co-workers at the Archstone apartment company that he was headed to the Castro neighborhood after work for happy hour. Lisa DiMartino has said she and others "are fairly confident" her brother was at Badlands, a club on 18th Street, at some point that night.

Police have said that the suspect may have cut himself during the assault. In August 2011, then-homicide Inspector Richard Martin said, "We believe we have the suspect's DNA that was left at the scene."

In January 2011, the mayor's office authorized a $25,000 reward for information leading to an arrest and prosecution in DiMartino's death.
